

BuildDirect Named a Top 24 Exporter

BuildDirect of Vancouver has been named a winner of the British Columbia Export Awards. The company was recognized as top exporter in the Professional and Services category and one of the top 24 exporters in B.C. The winners were announced at a gala luncheon ceremony co-hosted by Canadian Manufacturers and Exporters and the Ministry of Economic Development and attended by members of British Columbia's business community.

BuildDirect says by using a proprietary shipping and logistics software the company is able to provide building supplies to 60 countries on six continents. Their current product lines of building supplies include flooring, roofing, countertops and decking. Rob Banks, executive vice president and co-founder said, "The new distribution channel we've developed is revolutionizing the building supplies industry. The growth we've achieved so far is really just the beginning." The company says its unique business model has allowed it to create the most efficient distribution channel for building supplies and revolutionized the industry.
